Community Notice Board

Police would like to remind the local community of peoples right to privacy and restrictions regarding entering other residents property.

There have been several incidents within the local area of youth entering other peoples property without authority or reasonable excuse.

This is not acceptable and must cease immediately. Police are aware that whilst young people may like to explore there have been several incidents of young people entering the properties of others uninvited.

If anyone has a reasonable excuse to enter another person's property they should present directly to the residence and announce themselves and the reason for the visit. Other than this any person entering or remaining on another person's property may be committing an offence of Trespass which could lead to charges for the appropriate offence (s).

The community in general is very harmonious so now is the time to reinforce this basic courtesy to anyone who may be doing otherwise.

Please be aware should any person need to report matters to Police that should be via the normal channels with your local Police Station and not to myself direct.

Thankyou

NSW RURAL FIRE SERVICE

Windellama Rural Fire Brigade

Windellama Brigade recently received our brand new light fire fighting appliance. A "Cat9" Toyota Landcruiser. This replaces our previous Cat9 which was a 20-year-old Nissan. The improved capabilities, in addition to the advances in vehicle safety over the last 20 years, include significant advances in crew fire protection systems, increased water capacity and a more powerful firefighting pump.

While not as iconic as our previous early 1980's Cat9 which was sold to the Australian Museum, the Nissan Navara still provided many years of solid service including being operated almost 24/7 for 3 months during the 2019/20 Black Summer Fires.

Thinking of burning? There are some rules that you must follow to make it safer for you and your neighbours. You must notify all adjoining neighbours and the RFS Fire Control Centre using the online form www.rfs.nsw.gov.au/fire-information/BFDP/burn-notifications or by calling (02) 6226 3100) at least 24 hours before lighting up.

Here are simple things that you can do to reduce your risk:

- Create firebreaks and keep grass short – you can mow it, graze it or slash it back
- Maintain your machinery and carry fire suppression equipment such as a 9L water fire extinguisher, a dry powder fire extinguisher or a 16L knapsack water spray pump.
- Know where you can move your animals to safety
- Check and maintain firefighting equipment like pumps and hoses
- Make sure a fire truck can access your property such as gates, trees or obstructions
- Think 4x4 for access – clear 4 metres wide by 4 metres high

If you have conducted burning on your property, it's important to ensure you have fully extinguished any fire before you leave it unattended. Smouldering stumps can reignite several weeks later and become fast-moving under the usual high winds for Windellama during June and July.

In an emergency or if you see an unattended fire call Triple Zero (000)

April 2023 Rainfall at our place.

The Heavens opened up and we received at our place on the last days of April falls of 15.50mm, 38mm and 17.50mm for a combined total of 91mm.

May 2023 Rainfall at our place

Moisture captured in the rain gauge this month was a combination of Rain, Dew, Frost and Snow for a total of 15mm. Last year we had 104mm for May, so we have a bit of catching up to do.

We had our first visual frost on Thursday 4th. No doubt this will be the first of many.

On the 7th of this month at our place, the ground turned white from the falling snow as did the temperature.

Windellama Road Gardening

Last month I spoke about the planting of trees and the problems that can occur where they are planted. When planted too close to fences, especially Wattles, that only seem to last 10 years, and then fall across the fence, they then create work in the form of cutting them off the fence. If the Wattles are dead, the never ending job of sharpening chainsaw blades and if they squash the fence, and you have animals, rounding the animals up, when they escape, plus re building the fence.

When planting near concrete slabs the roots can lift the slab and crack it or if planted near some earthenware pipes, the roots seeking moisture, find their way into the pipes and thus create a blockage. The same happens with Septic trenches.

The above examples are just a few examples when the wrong type of tree is grown in the wrong spot.

Soil Conditioners

A good soil conditioner is cow manure. The down side of using this manure from the paddocks is that you also can get a good crop of weeds. If you don't like weeding, you maybe better to compost it for at least 12 months but most gardeners, including me are too impatient to wait that long.

So what I do is cover the garden bed with the manure and wait to the weeds grow and then cover the weeds and garden bed with Black Plastic for at least 3 months. By doing this you are allowing the worms and other microbes to feed on the manure and weeds and thus improving the soil texture. I find the garden bed remains weed free for at least the duration of the next crop planted.

Other sources of cow manure are purchasing crushed cow's manure or from a dairy. My mate gets it from a dairy and its quite fresh. I followed him home one day with a load and got sea sick watching the waves in his trailer. When he gets home he then shovels it out of the trailer around his fruit trees. He spreads it out and past the trees drip line and it's quite deep. It's also quite green when he does this but you should see the results!

Another way to use cow manure is to make a liquid manure conditioner in a container. By doing this, usually, can be used within a month. But dilute the mixture at least 10 parts water to 1 part brew.

Jobs for the month at our place

The last Broccoli seedlings have been planted. The self seeded flower plants have been thinned and transplanted.

Some of the fruit trees new growth decided to reach for the sky again, crazy, but I stopped them by lopping the new growth off.

Pansy seedlings ave been planted just in time with the rain to give them a good start but maybe not with the snow – time will tell!

Snail bait has been spread in the garden area.

It's also time to sharpen chainsaw chains and start chopping wood, if not already doing so!

TERM 2 SPORT – LACROSSE

This term coach Vaughn, from Invert Sports Centre is delivering a Lacrosse program to our whole school. Lacrosse is a fast-paced and action-packed sport that combines elements of soccer, basketball, and hockey. It's a great way to stay active, develop your hand-eye coordination, and build teamwork and sportsmanship skills. The lacrosse team with the most points or goals at the end of the time wins the game. All our students have been having a great time with the new skills learnt each week.

CROSS COUNTRY

Congratulations to all students who participated in the TREC Cross Country Carnival. It was a fabulous day. Miss Huntley & Mrs Casey were very proud of how they conducted themselves at the carnival. We would like to extend an extra congratulations to Josh, Sophie and Riley who came first in their age groups, and Charlie who came third. What a fantastic achievement!

Windellama Country Market News

Despite the weather being a bit windy and very damp, we had good crowds at the Autumn markets in April and May, with lots of people coming to buy some great home made goods including plants, preserves, embroidery, candles, soaps, tools and bric-a-brac. The kitchen was busy warming up everyone one with fresh coffee, tea, beautiful donated cakes and the famous home made pies and sausage rolls.

This is a good month to start a compost bins, pick up all the fruit trees leaves, layer it with grass clipping add some manure from the chook shed plus some lime wet it down. You can cover the heap with old carpet or potato bags too kept it wet.

This is the time to purchase new roses, you can also move old roses when their leaves have died down.

Planting of fruit trees can be done this month, make sure you have plenty of compost dug into the planting hole, the hole should be twice as big and deep as the roots you are planting. If in clay soil mound the soil above ground level to give it plenty of drainage. Don't forget some fruit tree need two for one is a pollinators. Some apples, pears, cherries, most plums. You can plant two trees in the 1 hole if you are short of room.

VEGETABLES

Only seeds of broad beans, peas and onion seedlings to go in this month.

FLOWERS

Seedling planted now will flower in spring. Stock, pansy, viola, primula, wallflower, Russell lupins, delphiniums, foxgloves, Iceland poppies, sweet Williams, calendula.

This month if there are any gardens which aren't being used, turn the soil over roughly to open it up. The frost sweeten the soil, for spring planting.

I rotate the garden beds, and plant root vegetables into beds, that have had heavy feeder such as cabbages and leafy greens, and also do not plant tomato in the same bed as the previous year.

Snails and slugs can be wreak havoc on seedlings, destroying them in one sitting. Look under the leaves of spinach and other plants to find them hiding. You can place snail pellets around all young seedling.

Or make a beer trap and place in your garden; Put old beer into a margarine container cut a hole into the lid place it level into the soil. If no beer a teaspoon of vegemite will also work.

There is copper tape you can place around the garden bed, if the garden bed is raised above the ground this makes it easier, or place the copper tape around pots and place them over the new seedlings, check daily.

Also found lime sprinkled over cabbage plants help to keep cabbage month off. Or cover the plans with netting.

WHITE OIL

1 cup of vegetable oil + ½ cup of water , a teaspoon of washing up detergent and shake well.

Spray over the plants with fungus on the leaves also smothers insect of leaves.

Just last month the EPA handed Veolia a stack of new infringement notices.¹ One of these was a prevention notice for leaking waste containers. As many in the community have witnessed, when the trucks climb the steep hill out of Tarago on their way to Collector Road, the waste containers get tilted at an angle that sends any liquid inside flowing back towards the container door seals. Veolia's licence conditions require the containers to be leakproof and watertight, but as the EPA notice details, they often aren't.

Not only does the EPA report cite four separate community complaints of leaking containers, it also states EPA officers witnessed container leakage firsthand during their inspection:

*"On 14 May 2021, EPA officers inspected the Crisp Creek Intermodal Facility in response to community complaints of leaking shipping containers at the premises. During inspection, EPA officers observed leachate leaking from the bottom of the door seal of a waste container being handled by a container fork at the premises as lateral motion was imparted."*²

In response, Veolia states that its waste transportation "is one of the most environmentally sustainable in the world", and that they are using "best available container technology". Sound familiar? It's the same phrases they use to promote their proposed waste incinerator. What do you think is more complicated — making sure a shipping container is leakproof, or building and operating a waste incinerator burning 380,000 tonnes of rubbish a year and managing the millions of tonnes of hazardous waste ash it produces?

If Veolia's shipping containers LEAK and that is their Best Available Technology, what can we expect from an incinerator? And what can we expect from their transport of extremely hazardous waste ash up into a supposedly leak-proof storage cell? Imagine if the waste they were transporting up the hill from Crisp's Creek was the highly toxic ash residue from the incinerator. Or imagine them transporting the extremely toxic leachate from the ash leachate dams offsite — something they acknowledged they may need to do.⁴ Several bucketloads of that ash could contaminate Crisp's Creek and the roadside paddocks for decades to come. Why would anyone trust Veolia with a proposal that risky?

I don't know about you, but I expect my 'environmentally sustainable' enterprises and proposals to protect the environment we depend on. I'm sure most of us would like to see our families healthy, our pets and livestock continue to thrive, our produce safe to eat, and our air safe to breathe. It's clear that Veolia's 'best available technology' for an incinerator can't guarantee that.

Thank You Notes

Hello folks! First off, we would like to send a huge thank you to the organisers of the Tarago Markets for a good day. They are good but cannot control the weather.

Men's Shed May Catering News.

There has been a full catering program put up on the catering notice board right up to Christmas so check it out.

The Sheds next function is the Wednesday mixed finger food day on 7TH June and then the gourmet mixed B.B.Q on Saturday 24TH June at 11.30am. There is something for everyone, good quality food and good company so come along and see what Cookie does. Visitors and New Members are very welcome.

I have just returned from a great cruise where the highlight of the cruise was dinner at The Executive Chef Table on the Majestic Princess and met the man himself. We enjoyed 8 courses of fine dining, it was fantastic.

See you all at the Mens Shed

Cheers Cookie

Men's Shed Projects

Many individual jobs are being undertaken by members of the shed.

Some shed members help down and dirty with cutting firewood for the raffle, thanks to all involved.

The men's shed is always open to any community project they can help with. We have expertise in many fields so if you need help and advice on a community project, please give us a call.

Our day trips to places of interest are a great success. Thanks to those people who have assisted with organising these events. Suggestions of places to visit are most welcome.

The shed continues to be a hive of activity with benches always full of projects, Doug working on old things making them look new again.

We have had some interesting machinery donated to the shed and our thanks to those people who supplied them.

Please be safe and look out for each other, if in doubt, call out for help.

For our May meeting we journeyed out into the wilds of Windellama country to visit Kevin. The weather decided to turn a bit cold, but Kevin had the fire on inside, which made it very cosy indeed. Kevin's little dog was exceptionally happy to see us all and must have been totally exhausted by the time we left, having covered many a kilometre, mainly in circles, as we were all greeted again and again and again.

We had been promised a display of fruiting figs at our previous meeting and we weren't disappointed, with Kevin's fig trees heavy with fruit and looking terrific. His lemon trees close by were also well laden with fruit and ripening nicely. If we're lucky, he might bring some along to our next meeting.

As we are fast approaching winter, our gardens are preparing to go to sleep for a well-earned rest. Even so, we are still harvesting some produce, with Irene picking her beans and broccoli and Warren and Judy getting quite a lot of vegies from their garden and the Community Garden patch. Warren decided to develop another garden area for future plantings, but injured his thumb in the process. It just goes to show that no good deed ever goes unpunished.

Sue is still busy harvesting her tomatoes, raspberries and strawberries in her glasshouse, and Kym has finally got some finger limes from his bushes. Only three this year, but the sky will be the limit next year. Robyn and Rob have put some grass seed in and are hoping to get it established before the winter frosts kill it off. It managed to survive the recent dusting of snow, but with the current cold snap, it's going to be challenging. We should know if the new grass will survive by the next article.

With the recent wet and cold weather, rust fungus has taken a heavy toll on Sue's leeks but, not to be dismayed, she has replanted and is hoping for a bumper harvest. She has to keep an eye out, not only for her leeks, but on a visiting eagle, which has taken an unhealthy interest in her chickens. Perhaps it is also watching a couple of bower birds which have recently moved in.

Danny and Vivien have finished their grape harvest, and Lynda is currently working on controlling her apple scab and leaf curl on her fruit trees. Always plenty to do, no matter what the season.

John and Caroline have been out seeking some new members for the club, using the cunning ploy of sending their bull, Little Peter, out to visit the neighbours.

After being separated from the local cows, and clearly taking exception to this, Little Peter got into a fight with one of the old steers and then proceeded to stage a break out and visit the nice heifers down the road.

John finally managed to retrieve Little Peter, but not before he had met the new neighbours and signed them up for the Garden Club. We will look forward to meeting them, hopefully at our next meeting.
